New Signal Corps Band Member,

Welcome to the Signal Corps Army Band. We are looking forward to your arrival and will assist you in any way possible so your transition will be a smooth one.

This is an excellent organization that offers a myriad of opportunities. While assigned to the Signal Corps Band, I will encourage you to continue your civilian education, military development, and to take private lessons. Many unit members have attended clinics and conferences while assigned to this unit. I have allowed soldiers to attend classes during the duty day, within reason. The Commander and I offer a lot for our soldiers, and we expect that good physical readiness and technical skills be maintained.

This unit works well together and moral is high. Use of the chain of command is enforced. We take care of each other and continuously work towards making this unit an enjoyable place to work and live. The commander and I both realize the importance of family and we will make every effort to help family members feel at home around the band and to feel a part of our organization.

To assist in your transition, you will be assigned a sponsor. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact SPC Caulwell (unit's sponsorship NCO), or me.

You will have the time to develop personally and professionally, so take advantage of all Augusta, Fort Gordon and this unit have to offer. I will expect the best from you and look forward to benefiting from your contributions towards making this an even better organization.
